Help for Nebraska's child care programs

Your child care program is a crucial asset in your community. But it's not easy to stay ahead of expenses while delivering quality care, especially when serving families in greatest need.

The School Readiness Tax Credit could help.

If you are a child care owner who participates in the child care subsidy and Step Up to Quality, you might be eligible for a nonrefundable credit on your next state income tax return.

DISCLAIMER: First Five Nebraska does not provide guidance on financial or tax preparation issues. If you do not have access to an accountant or tax professional, ask about free tax preparation services in your community.
